

Dear Faculty,

One of the questions with which the A-Team for Communications grappled was “how can we better communicate with each other” and, more specifically, how can the president better communicate with the campus community? After conducting research and looking at best practices, one of their suggestions was that I have more in-person discussions with students, faculty and staff.

I took their suggestions to heart. Please join me for an informal session on:

- Thursday, April 13, 4 p.m. in the McNairy Garden Room. This Campus Conversation is specifically for faculty.

I look forward to seeing you.

John M. Anderson, Ph.D.
President
