

Millersville University's Library Department is replacing LexisNexis Academic with Westlaw Campus Research. Access to LexisNexis / NexisUNI will end on June 30, 2018 or soon thereafter.

- Use of LexisNexis (LN) has shown a significant and steady decline in over the last three years.
- Westlaw is the preferred vendor for legal professionals; our students will be gaining real-world experience using the product.
- Westlaw provides the same scholarly legal journals that were previously available.
- Westlaw provides full access to American Jurisprudence, the standard legal encyclopedia for United States law.
- Westlaw provides over 5,000 news publications (domestic and international newspapers, blogs, AP wires, trade publications, and Reuters news).
- Westlaw's annual price increases historically have been more in line with industry norms. LN annual price increases were approaching nearly twice the industry norm.
- Westlaw has superior browsing and point & click navigation.
- Westlaw legal content is readily accessible when using LibrarySearch and other research databases.
- Due to the significantly lower cost of Westlaw, the library will also be able to provide access to the long sought after legal publications from HeinOnline.
