

Free Student Media Summit

Due to the generosity of PSECU and the Dean of the College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Science, Millersville University will host a FREE Media Summit for students in the PA State System to be held this Friday, March 31, 2017, in the Student Memorial Center (SMC) at Millersville University.

The Summit explores the role of student media to engage, enrich, and empower State System campus communities and should be of interest to students in any major, as Millersville University students from across campus are involved in print, digital and multi-media journalism on campus, as well as WIXQ radio station and MUTV (the campus cable station).

Please note:

- The Summit is one day and the conference schedule is at PAMediaSummit.com/Schedule
- Thanks to the generosity of our sponsor, PSECU, registration for the Summit is now FREE! Including FOOD! And a coffee break from Saxby's! But you have to register: Please share the link to register for all State System students: <https://www.pamediasummit.com/registration/>

We have something for everyone, including:

- Dan Good, former editor of The Snapper newspaper, and now a writer and editor for the New York Daily News is our keynote speaker @ 9:45 a.m. He will discuss "Navigating a Career in Journalism in an Age of Anti-Journalism."
- Nate Wardle, meteorologist and MSEM grad, formerly of CBS 21 and now Emergency Preparedness PIO at the PA Department of Health is our closing speaker @ 5 p.m.
- Journalist Jan Murphy of the Patriot News will engage with Kenn Marshall of the PA State System on "Strikes, Closings and Other Quandaries"
- Activist Nick Martin, of Lancaster Against Pipelines will speak with Justin Fleming, Susquehanna Township Supervisor and Director of Government Affairs for the PA Psychological Association will discuss "Politics, Media and Social Movements"
- A student panel from Cheyney University will discuss "Representations of Minorities in the Media," while a panel from PSECU will discuss "Corporate Social Responsibility through Digital Strategy"
- We also have speakers talking about careers "behind the camera," being a "young professional," and students speaking on "social media as a news source" and "film and broadcast."
- Our own Dean Diane Umble and Duane Hagelgans will discuss experiences and insights re: Media and crises, focusing on the Nickel Mines tragedy.
