State System Faculty Expertise Showcase

The Chancellor's Office is putting together a Faculty Expertise Showcase. It will be a new area on the State System website that highlights faculty expertise from across the System—in a very real sense, a "brag book" of faculty experts. Visitors to the site would be able to read about faculty members and their areas of expertise.

Faculty are welcome to submit their information at the Faculty Expertise Submission Form Link, before June 1.

In addition, the communications office at Millersville University will be inputting names from our experts list at: http://blogs.millersville.edu/news/experts-list/.

This is phase 1 of the Faculty Expertise Showcase, with additional opportunities for participation in the future. Media inquiries will go to the faculty member's public relations office so that it does not create a burden for the faculty member.

For questions, please email Janet Kacskos, director of communications, at janet.kacskos@millersville.edu.