Are you interested in learning more about:

- Suicidal behaviors, gestures, and actions?
- New strengths-based interventions for addressing suicidal behaviors?
- How to become more in charge of our mental health?
- How neuroscience, brain-based counseling theories, subjective well-being, and the spiritual components of personal growth and development can shed light on the powerful capacity to enhance our own mental health and advocate for the mental health of others?

 This presentation meets the requirements of the Matt Adler Suicide Prevention Continuing Education Act, which requires one hour of CE in suicide assessment, treatment, and management.

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Karen Rice at Karen.Rice@millersville.edu or (717) 871-5297.
