

Film Availability via Kanopy is Changing as of February 15th

Kanopy, Millersville's primary streaming service, experienced very high use in calendar year 2018 and resulted in costs that have exceeded the budget for this resource. Immediate access to the entire film library is no longer financially possible. Starting February 15, 2019, the library will be providing request driven access to select films in Kanopy.

How it will work...

When a film in Kanopy has been identified, and has not already been licensed, a short form will be presented. Faculty will need to state the reason for their request, including course number/name and the semester in which the film will be used. Generally, within two business days of a faculty-initiated request for use of a film for instructional purposes, the film will become available.

At the present time, most student-initiated requests for mediated titles will not be granted.

Please contact your subject librarian if you have questions.
