Good morning. Here are the State System News Highlights for January 30, 2019. This summary of news articles related to the State System and the member universities is distributed weekly.

- To view the individual articles, click on the headlines below.

- To view past articles and real-time news highlights from Twitter, go to” www.passhe.edu/news.

- For regular updates on the State System Redesign, visit the website at: http://systemredesign.passhe.edu/

---

SRU student intervenes to prevent kidnapping in Pittsburgh
Wednesday, January 30, 2019

The walk to work or class is typically a time when many people put in their earbuds, stare at their shoes or smartphones and block out the world. But a recent encounter at a Pittsburgh bus stop by a Slippery Rock University student provided an important reminder: always be aware of your surroundings. And, be ready to lend a helping hand if needed.

New Castle News

---

Pennsylvania colleges, universities sign agreements to promote international education
Tuesday, January 29, 2019

The Pennsylvania Global and Education Hub, which comprises both public and private colleges and universities in the state, has signed a pair of new international partnership agreements developed to promote the PA schools to students in India while providing a variety of exchange and research opportunities to students and faculty from here, as well.

The (DuBois) Courier Express

---

West Chester professor treasures his antique computer collection
Monday, January 28, 2019

Whether it’s collecting coins, stamps or computers, I love the enthusiasm of people who hoard. Putting coins, stamps and computers in the same sentence about collecting might seem a little strange. West Chester University professor Michael Pearson owns 200 computers and he’s not done collecting.

By Bill Rettew, Daily Local News of West Chester

---

The articles below have been posted on the website, but were missed from the earlier weekly email summaries:

38 Pa. schools receive state grants to combat campus sexual assault
Wednesday, January 9, 2019

Shippensburg University, Elizabethtown College and York College of Pennsylvania are among the 38 post-secondary institutions chosen to receive a state-funded grant to combat sexual assaults on their campuses. The nearly $1 million in grants is part of the state's “It's on Us" campaign now entering its fourth year to make campuses safer by giving students the tools, knowledge and skills they need when it comes to preventing sexual harassment and assault.

By Jan Murphy, The (Harrisburg) Patriot-News

Pennsylvania colleges, universities get grants to fight sexual assaults on campus
Wednesday, January 9, 2019

Officials said $1 million in grants will be given to 38 college campuses in Pennsylvania to help prevent sexual assaults. "Sexual assault should never be a student's experience when they go on to better themselves and improve their quality of life and really invest in their family's future," said Pedro Rivera, the state secretary of education.

By Jeremy Jenkins, WGAL News 8

Shippensburg University awarded $70,000 PLCB grant to expand brewing education
Monday, January 7, 2019

Shippensburg University will be expanding their education programs to cater to beer brewers, thanks to the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board. The university was awarded a $71,701 grant from the PLCB in order to “to prepare workers for the Pennsylvania brewed and malt beverage industry,”

By Sean Adams, The (Harrisburg) Patriot-News