Your Input Is Wanted/Needed

Millersville University is in the midst of a “Self-Study” for the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. The University is currently accredited by Middle States, but is required, every eight years, to show that it continues to meet the commission’s standards and seek opportunities for institutional renewal.

Groups have been working since spring 2018 on a comprehensive document that will be shared with the External Site Team Chair in mid-October the external Middle States review team in February 2020.

“We’re at the point in the process where we will be holding open forums and soliciting community feedback,” says Dr. Lisa Shibley, Middle States Coordinator, MSCHE liaison, and assistant vice president of Institutional Assessment & Planning at Millersville. “We’re asking the entire campus to review and comment on the documents/findings gathered by the working groups and steering committee and drafted by the coordinating leadership team.”

Open Forums have been scheduled for October 1, 2 and 3 on campus – and will include refreshments:

- Tuesday, Oct. 1, 10 – 11 a.m. in McNairy Library #117
- Wednesday, Oct. 2, 12:30 – 1:30 in McNairy Library #117
- Thursday, Oct. 3, 3 – 4 p.m. in Stayer MPR.

If you can’t make one of the Open Forums, you’re asked to give feedback online at https://www.millersville.edu/rediscovermu/selfstudy/index.php. (password is jsam95). Feedback will be taken from now through Oct. 7.

Along with Shibley, the coordinating leadership team includes Drs. Laurie Hanich, Middle States Co-Chair and professor of Educational Foundations and James Delle, Middle States Co-Chair and associate provost. The steering committee and working groups include faculty, staff, students and members of the Council of Trustees. More information about the members and the process is available at: http://www.millersville.edu/rediscovermu/.