Brown Bag Session: Teaching in an Online Degree Completion Program

Laura Brierton Granruth, PhD, MSW

October 8, 2019

Tuesday Common Hour (12:05 – 1:10 PM)

McNairy 502

In this session, Laura will discuss her experience transitioning a required course in the social work major from a face-to-face format that made good use of D2L to a Distance Learning format as part of the new social work online degree completion program. Laura will review challenges and opportunities, including additional experience in instructional design and the creation of seamless modules. The presentation may be helpful to other departments as the university seeks to reach an increasing number of non-traditional college students
