Lancaster County Special Emergency Response Team (S.E.R.T.) Training on Campus

The Lancaster County Special Emergency Response Team (S.E.R.T.) will be on campus this week, Oct. 21-25, for training. It will be held in and around the empty houses along East Frederick Street.

Please be aware of this training and avoid the area. There may be simulated rounds of fire during the training. Millersville University Police Chief, Pete Anders, says “these trainings truly reflect our value of public service and are essential for first responders.”

Members of the S.E.R.T. team are local police officers who receive specialized training to respond to high risk incidents of threats and violence in our community. The Lancaster S.E.R.T. team was one of the many groups featured on the SMC promenade on September 24th for MU Preparedness Day.
