Library Open for Remote Access
Online/Phone Calls Available while building is Closed

It's important to know that many of the services offered through the McNairy Library & Learning Forum are available even when the building is closed or you're off campus. While the physical building will be closed through Sunday, March 29, online services will still be available and questions will be answered via online and the phone. We anticipate that the physical library will reopen on Monday, March 30 at 8 a.m. Please visit www.library.millersville.edu for more information.

- Access to electronic library resources will continue to be available through the McNairy Library website.
- Faculty librarians will continue to be available to assist students and faculty with research and reference questions via chat or other online electronic options through the "Ask a Librarian" service, which will resume on March 23, upon the completion of spring break.
- Requests for interlibrary loan items will be fulfilled electronically whenever possible.
- Access to print or physical library collections and physical interlibrary loan services are not available until the library reopens on March 30.
- Faculty members should contact their subject librarian (<http://library.millersville.edu/directory/subject-librarians>) with any questions.
- General questions for the library can be directed to 717-871-7111, Monday through Friday 8 a.m. – 5 p.m.

Library staff and faculty are committed to continuing to assist the campus community in every way we can while the physical building is closed. Please contact us, we are here to help you!
