During the month of November, we celebrate the diverse and rich culture, history, and traditions of Native/Indigenous people. It’s also a time to educate individuals about the different tribal nations and raise awareness about past and present struggles of Native/Indigenous people.

The ancestors of American Indians, Alaska Natives and Native Hawaiians were indigenous to the lands that were colonized by Europeans to become the United States.

This November we center the experiences and legacy of Native/Indigenous people and acknowledge their impact.