

Toys for Tots Collection Boxes

The white and red cardboard Toys for Tots boxes are now out on Millersville University's campus. Arthur White, a police supervisor within the Millersville University Police Department who is heading up the initiative, says the boxes have been placed in the Student Memorial Center, Dilworth and Palmer.

New, unwrapped toys will be collected through the end of November.

Last year, Millersville University helped to collect toys, along with other local businesses and organizations in the area, to contribute a total of about 50,000 toys that made Christmas a little brighter for 12,415 needy children in Lancaster County.

University police and security officers have participated in the Toys for Tots program for the past 12 years by picking up toys during off-time and on their breaks.

“I think because we all have received help in some way it is always good to give back,” White says. “By contributing to organizations like Toys for Tots, you’re helping the community on the path to a better future.”
